Mike, it's Jan. I got this text from Laura who asked me to contact you and ask if you will give her another chance. She is terribly upset and feels you played her like a fool. I have to admit that Ronn and I both believed you at the North Beach restaurant when you said you were taking responsibility for the pregnancy and that the timing was wrong. I can see how she didn't think you were lying and didn't intend to end the relationship when the pregnancy was over. Please read the text she wrote and consider giving her another chance.

Mike recently made the comment to me that he would have said anything in the world to get out of having a child. That he agreed to whatever I want just to not have to have it. This has been weighing on me like a ton of bricks lately and I absolutely cannot live with myself anymore. The child

Please let me know if you got this.

Again, my words get misconstrued. I was 100% truthful with you and Ronn when we talked at NB restaurant. I was supportive throughout the entire process and when we were at Tony Robbins I told her that "if I didn't say that I was going to get married or have a child later on with you, you would of kept the child." She replied with that's absolutely true. I never said that I was appeasing her at the time, I just told her that she was always giving me an ultimatum and I was tired of receiving the threats. I've been 100% honest throughout this entire process and am still here today months after the operation even though I'm incredibly unhappy with where we stand. I've been at my breaking point for a long time and have been honest and truthful with her about my truthful with her about my feelings. I've told her that this relationship is now unenjoyable and that I don't feel like I'm the right fit for her. Though she would disagree with me, ive tried.

And somehow this bf/gf thing keeps getting brought up. I told her that we have different expectations when it comes to boyfriend and girlfriend. I also told her we need to work on being happy rather than focusing on a title.

I have never once asked for iceland nor did I know she had purchased it. She wanted it to be a surprise for me and never asked me what I was doing over that period of time. I had already purchased a trip a year ago that I was really looking forward to and cancelled it because she made me feel guilty.

Bottom line is this shouldn't be a surprise to Laura considering

Bottom line is this shouldn't be a surprise to Laura considering I've told her about my unhappiness for the last few months. I'm constantly repeating myself and have finally broken.

I understand what you're saying, but could you please call her and be gentle and hear what she is saying. It would mean a lot to all of us. She wants you to forgive her for whatever she's done that's gotten you two to this point.

I told her that if she betters herself that I would contemplate a future with her. She is again threatening to commit suicide. Did you go and see her today? She said she has been in her car for the last 4 hours

So you did call her?

I'm still on the phone with her

Okay, great!

No.. it's not great. She is threatening to kill herself and jump off the bridge

We truly appreciate it.

I think she will be in a better mindset if she gets the medication adjusted, gets some rest and is off of gluten for awhile. If you can calm her, we would be eternally grateful. She is not acting like herself and I am certain it is because

Hi Mike, are you with Laura? We haven't heard anything from you or her since last night.

No, I'm with my family in Sacramento.

Dec 10, 2016, 5:00 PM

Did I get the correct report that she is heading home and you two are back together? She just called us and Ronn and I are looking up hospitals to meet her at.

I followed what Ronn told me to

Hi Mike, we wanted to thank you so much for what you did for us and Laura this weekend. You saved her and we will forever be grateful to you. She is getting treated as an inpatient right now and then will continue to be treated as an outpatient. They are going to change the medication they put her on for anxiety. We would love to take you out to thank you later this week or the following if you are available, does that work? We also know this took a big toll on your family this weekend and we would love to take everyone out to the House of Prime Rib this holiday season if your mom and sister are in SF.

I wanted to wait at least 24 hours before responding to you because I was so upset yesterday and this weekend. I'm glad Laura got treatment for a day, but she just informed me she is checking out and is back to the way she was this weekend which is very concerning. She somehow still doesn't get that I have been with someone that is ACTUALLY dying and wants to live another day, yet she wants to end her life out of selfishness.

The reason I'm writing you is to let you that the statements I told Laura this weekend were logical and out of compassion. I was given an ultimatum of "if we are not together, then I'm going to kill myself." Nobody ever wants to be given an ultimatum especially when death is involved. I was given an ultimatum of "if we are not together, then I'm going to kill myself." Nobody ever wants to be given an ultimatum especially when death is involved. Ronn and I said we needed to do whatever we could to make sure your daughter came home safely, yet you told her I was lying to her. I get being a mom you want to protect your daughter, but i don't get why you do that when Laura was suicidal all weekend. Like I said I understand your her mother, but relaying that message caused an incredible amount of stress on me and in turn i took it out on my family.

With all of that being said, I appreciate your offer for dinner and even including my family, but I'm going to have to pass. I care, love and appreciate Laura, you, Ronn, Sarah and

With all of that being said, I appreciate your offer for dinner and even including my family, but I'm going to have to pass. I care, love and appreciate Laura, you, Ronn, Sarah and Christian, but I'm still too upset to even think about having a dinner. I'll let my family know about your kind gesture though

They increased her dosage of Cymbalta and I think it has had a very bad effect on her.

I think it wasn't a good idea and has made her very anxious and upset.

Please be kind and patient with her.

It is all because of the drug.

And she hasn't eaten

I understand that and have been kind and patient, but when she doesn't like an answer, she gets thoroughly upset.

Again she just called and asked why I would decline your invitation to dinner. I don't know how we are all not on the same page right now, but we need to be moving forward. If you tell me something that doesn't mean I tell Laura. There are some things she doesn't need to know especially the state that she is in. I didn't say I never want to see anyone again, I respectfully declined the kind invitation because it's still too fresh and my family is focused on someone who is ill.

I totally understand and feel very sorry for what your family is going through right now. I am truly sorry that this has been a distraction. I would just ask for your continued understanding and patience as

I would just ask for your continued understanding and patience, as I feel strongly that her current state of mind and tearfulness is due to the medication, which may not have been the right choice for her in the first place and may have compounded her feelings by being increased today.

Keeping all of you in our thoughts and prayers, Mike. So sorry for your loss. Please let us know if there is anything we can do.
